Frazier's Great Remedy

humbugged with all kinds of Patent Medicines, quacks and imposters for the past lew years, in a most shameful manner. The writer of the following is one of the victims, and wishes to present a very plain case.

Believing that by cleansing the b'ood was the only true way of banishing disease, and being a great sufferer fr m weak Longs and a seroindous affection, and after trying many kinds of Patent Medicines and the most eminent Poysicians, I commenced doctoring myself, and at last decovered a Blood Searcher, or Root Bitters, which not only gave me immediate releif, but after a few weeks effected a radical cure. The cough left me, my longs became strong and sound, my a petite good, and the se ofulous disease had disappeared. Feeling confident that my Discovery possessed wonderful healing virtues, I gave it to others afflicted, and found it effected the most miraculous cures in thousands of cases, not alone presenting either myself or medicine to the public-not being a Paient Medicine Man, but I am getting bravely o er that. I have sold thousands of bottles of my Root Bitters, and it is my desire and determination to place the

The grand principle that operates in these Root Bitters is the power they possess in cleansing the turgid blood and banishing the vile humors from the system. Root Bitters are strictly a Medicinal Preparation, compounded from roots combined with herbs and plasts, many of which were used in the good oid days of our forefathers, when people were cured by some simple root or herb, and when Calomei and other poisons of the mineral kingdom were unknown.

How a Female Prisoner was Silenced.

[From the Detroit Free Fress.] Friday evening a woman about thirty years old was arrested in the Western District for disturbing the peace, and the event almost distracted her, although she had seen The people of the United States have been ambugged with all hinds of Patent Medicines, gan howling and weeping as soon as she was locked up, and Bijah, the ianitor of the Ninth avenue station, felt his heart getting tender. He offered her a harvest apple, but she merely stopped long enough to see what it was, and then went on crying out: "I am dying, I know I am !" He besought her to live for the sake of her husband, who is away on the lakes, but she said she would be cold in death before morning if not set at liberty. He showed her the almanac and tried to induce afflicted, and found it effected the most miraculous cures in thousands of cases, not alone curing Coughs, Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Scroula and Weak Longs, but all diseases caused from humors in the blood. The demand from my friends and others hearing about these litters becoming cery great, I commenced putting them up for sale, calling hem FRAZIER'S ROOF BITTERS. I was at first backward in ROOF BITTERS. I was at first backward in the began reading the almanac out loud, but she drowned his voice, and he had to give up. Then he went out and bought some peppermint drops and handed them to her, saying that it was a burning shame to arrest a lady likes her for merely hitting another woman on the ear with a shovel. She was quiet for a few minutes, and then broke out again, and the roof of the station seemed to be rising up. Bijah offered her a pound of gum drops, a new bonnet, a black silk dress, house and lot, and $50,000 in bonds if she would only quit, but she danced up and down and

"Lemme cout or I shall di-ah! He locked all the doors and sat down on the front steps to let her exhaust herself, but after an hour and ten minutes, there being no cessation, he ran in with an ax on his shoulder and threatened to cut her head right off if she didn't stop.

"I won't! I won't! she shouted. dancing up and down, and taking a fresh start. He drummed on the coal scuttle with the ax to drown her voice, but her voice drowned the scuttle. He put the hose on the penstock and threatened to drown her, but she shut her eyes and pitched her voice on a new key The old man was in despair. The men up-stairs couldn't sleep, and people out doors thought a panther had been eaged. As the officer rubbed his bald head and looked around his eyes lighted on an old paper, and his smile extended from ear to ear. He carried it in, turned up the gas, and shouted: "Have you read the Beecher seandal yet " "Read what?" she exclaimed. suddenly ceasing to scream. "The Beecher-Tilton matter," he continued; this 'ere thing that everybody is talking about ?" "No-where is it?" she asked and he passed in the paper, telling her that if she would be good he'd hunt up the rest of the statement in another paper; and from that moment until daylight the woman never uttered a word, except once, when she asked if there weren' seven or eight more papers with statements in.

How They Finally Got Married.

One long summer afternoon there came to Mr. Davidson's the most curious specimen of an old bachelor the world ever heard of. He was old, gray, wrinkled and odd. He hated old women, especially old maids, and wasn't afraid to say so. He and Aunt Patty had it hot whenever chance drew them together yet still he came, and it was noticed that Aunt Patty took unusual pains with her dress whenever he was ex-

One day the contest waged unusually strong, and Aunt Patty left in disgust and went out into the "That bear!" she muttered to herself, as she stopped to gather a flower which attracted her atten-"What did you run for ?" said a gruff voice behind her. "To get rid of you." "You didn't do it, did you ?"

"No; you are worse than a bur-

"You won't get rid of me, either. "I won't, eh?" "Only in one way."

"And that ?" "Marry me." "What! us two fools get married!

What would people say ?"
"That's nothing to us. Come, say ves or no; I'm in a hurry." "Well, no, then." "Very well; good-by, I shan't come again."

"Stopa bit--what a pucker you're "Yes or no !" "I must consult-" "All right; I thought you were of age. Good-by." "Jabez Andrews, don't be a fool Come back, I say. Why, I believe the critter has taken me for earnest. Jabez Andrews, I'll consider." "I don't want any considering;

I'm going. Becky Hastings is waiting for me. I thought I would give you the first chance, Patty. All right; good-by.' "Jabez! Jabez! That stuck up Beck Hastings shan't have him Jabez, yes! Do you hear-Y-e-s!"

Cost of Fencing in the United States-Economy in Nebraska.

(St. Joe Herald.) The heaviest item of expense in farming-the heaviest considering the profit accruing-is probably that of fencing. In many cases the fences cost more than the lands. The fences of the country are valued at one thousand eight hundred millions of dollars, and immense sums are expended to keep the fencing efficient. In Illinois not less than $200,000,000 have been invested in fencing; and not less than $175,000 are annually expended to keep these "metes and bounds" in repair. If stringent fencing laws had been adopted in the State Nebraska, the settlement of the country would have been much retarded. But a law adapted to the needs of the country has been wisely adopted. This law relieves the settler at the time when he needs all his money for other improvements from the necessity of investing a large sum in the construction of lumber fences. The live stock the onus of keeping his stock from straying on the cultivated lands of his neighbors. The far-mer need not build fences around his cultivated fields, for horses, cattle and sheep are "fenced out' by the law. The stock, when pastured, have to be herded; but the cest of herding is not a tithe of what fencing would be. Fencing are constructed. All through the settled portions of the State hedgegrows are appearing and thriving. The hedge plants most used are the honey locust, the osage orange and the white willow. In some places gathered may be seen; and the

New York. peach seems to make as good a fence as the white willow.

Desirable Qualities in a Pig.

Of all the desirable qualities of a pig, a vigorous appetite is of the first importance. A hog that will not eat is of no more use than a mill that will not grind. And it is undoubtedly true that the more a pig will eat in proportion to its size, provided he can digest and assimilate it, the more profitable he will prove. The next desirable quality s, perhaps, quietness of disposition. blood is derived from the food, and flesh is derived from the blood. Animal force is derived from transformation of flesh more of this is The used in necessary motions, the greater the demand on the stomach and the more food there will be required merely to sustain the vital functions; and the more frequently flesh is transformed and formed again, the tougher and less palatable it becomes. This quality, quietness of disposition, combined with a small amount of useless parts, or offal, has been the aim of all modern breeders. Its importance will readily be perceived if we assume that seventy-five per cent. of the food is ordinarily consumed to support the vital functions, and that the slight additional demand of only one-sixth more food is required for the extra offal parts and unnecessary activity. A coarse, restless animal would gain. in flesh and fat, in proportion to the food consumed, only half as fast as the quiet, refined animal. To assume that a rough, coarse, savage, ill-bred, mongrel hog will require one-sixth more food than a quiet, refined, well-bred Berkshire, Essex, or Suffolk, is not extravagant .-Massachusetts Ploughman.

Will Pumpkin Seeds Kill Chickens?

Those feeding pumkins in the Fall or Winter to stock will be careful not to let the chickens eat the seeds, as it will make them sick and generaly kill tnem. I experien. ced it. Last fall, when I fed pumpkins to my milch cows, the chickens would eat the seed, and I did not care. I thought if they would eat pumpkin seeds they would eat less corn, but I soon found out the result. I soon observed sick chickens about the place, crawling and lingering about, but did not know what was the matter until one day a neighbor lady came to my house, and we got to talking about sick chickens. I told her that we had some on the place that could not walk ; whenever they attempted to walk they would fall over backwards. She asked me if I fed pumpkins. I told her I did feed to cows, and the chickens would eat the seed, and the lady said that was the cause of it; the pumpkin seeds are too flat and tough for them to digest. If any one has chickens affected t'us, let him coop them immediately and give them plently shelled corn and gravel. This will often cure them and clean out the pumpkin seeds,-Rural World.

Victory of the Roaches.

A Pittsburgh correspondent tells us how to get rid of our colony of roaches: "Sprinkle your desk and floor with pulverized borax; let it remain some days without being brushed off the desk and floor, and our word for it, 'brown roaches' will be completely vanquished, to appear never more." Oh, you be hanged. Didn't we try the borax, and didn't the roaches immediately hold a Clark's O. N. T. meeting and adopt a series of resolutions thanking us for the kindness we had done them, and didn't all the other roaches in the town attend that convention and determine to become permanent members of the colony when the meeting adjourned, and aren't swarming round us this this moment "as thick as Tewkesbury mustard?" Give the scoundrels borax, and they think you are a mother to them. The Congressional library contains 265,000 volumes, collected on the same principles pursued by old man Noah in loading his barge for the Mount Ararat voyage.

The Washington Capital moralizes as follows: "We are driving on to a destruction of the ramily. We give our children to the schoolteacher and our wives to the pastor, and ourselves to the pursuit of mon-

THE COMING STRUGGLE.

The voters of our nation, As ne'er was known before, Are rising from Pacific's strand. To Atlantic's rocky shore. Why is this mighty change? What can the meaning be? The rising of the masses From northern lake to southern sea.

The spirit of old seventy-six From out our heroes' gra es'
Forbids a nation drenched in patriots' blood,
Should sink to that of slaves;
The motto which our coins once bore,
Though obsolete long since, Remain as ever true: not one cent for tribute, But millions for defense.

Party ties and party laws Are but as ropes of sand, The ight of min to be a man

Should govern Freedom's land,
Then shall our Fing more proudly float
O'er land as well as sea,
And nations yet unborn shall gladly greet
The emblem of the free. In trade we'll try to deal,

As man should deal with man, And while we seek to live ourselves We'll sell as cheap as anybody can, Ard if a hat you need, Or friend you chance to meet, Remember Bunce, the Hatter, On Upper Douglas Street.
